

Hello, my goodness, that's the end of summer, and daylight savings... See ya next year daylight savings! I do hope that your summer was filled with kite flying, swimming, tree climbing, game playing, bike riding, story telling, ice cream eating and sand castle-making FUN? Winter can be just as much fun however, and if you're looking for a bit of indoor entertainment, mum and dad, pop along to the 'Heaps To Do' page on the 'That's The Story' website. Click on the 'Grown Ups' page, bottom left on the Home page, then click on 'Heaps To Do', and there you will find a HEAP of things to keep you entertained during those long, cold, wintery afternoons and evenings.

We're gonna have a very funky giveaway soon. The Funky Monkeys embark on another NZ tour and we've got free tickets to be won. Listen out THIS Sunday to find out more.

And, remember, if you ever miss the show on Classic Hits of a Sunday, we replay the whole show on the website. Simply pop along to www.thatsthestory.co.nz click on 'Stories', then click on 'Listen to the Best of That's The Story' and not only will you find that week's Classic Hits show in six parts, but a whole load of other stories and songs too!

Do tell your teacher at school about the 'That's The Story' story writing competition. It's a neat thing to do at school, and you might even win yourself $150 cash for your troubles. And, if you like, I might even be able to pay your class a visit and offer some great tips on how to write an awesome story! Tell your teacher to get in touch by emailing me at Ronnie@thatsthestory.co.nz

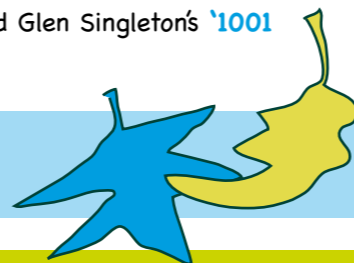

Do have a wonderful month and I'll see ya Sunday.
Ronnie

Strange Stuff About People

- Every single person has a unique tongue print.
- People taking photocopies of their bottoms is the cause of 23 percent of all photocopier malfunctions!
- Only one percent of bacteria are harmful to humans. Most germs are good germs.
- Every single year 4000 people injure themselves with teapots! How?
- One out of twenty people has an extra rib. Spare ribs anyone?
- Humans spend one third of their lives asleep.
- Lack of that sleep will kill a person faster than being starved.
- Human skin sheds continually. The outer layer of skin is entirely replaced every 28 days.
- The most productive mother gave birth to 69 children.
- The oldest known person lived to be 122 years of age.
