

Musical Combs

Interested in learning to play a musical instrument but can't afford to buy one? Why not make yourself a musical comb? All you need is a comb (yes, the thing that you use on your hair) and some tissue paper. Wrap a few layers of tissue paper flatly around the comb, hold it up to your lips and start to hum. You've just created your very own comb synthesiser! Watch out, it'll tickle your lips when you play it...

Why not play a "Name that tune" type of game where others have to guess what the player is humming via the comb, or make several musical combs and start a band.
