

Writing Letters

This seems to be something that not too many kids do anymore, and it's a shame. Encourage your children to write letters to friends and relatives they don't get to see very often. Make sure they ask the recipients how things are in their lives and they don't just focus on themselves—although grandma would be delighted to hear all about what her grandchildren do everyday! This is also a great way for your children to develop and improve their writing and grammar skills. Your kids may even receive a few letters of their own in return, and who doesn't get excited by that?